Hope

The year 2020 was like no other. The pandemic exposed and worsened inequalities, impacting our community of persons with disabilities in Indonesia.

Despite our personal and professional challenges, OHANA is striving to respond to the immediate needs of our community while advocating for the rights of persons with disabilities for the long-term.

Please read about our recent accomplishments with an eye towards the road ahead to recovery.

We believe that the participation of women with disabilities at the leadership level in public life is essential for breaking barriers of stigma and discrimination to empower women and other persons with disabilities and to create change in our systems and structures.

Our focus

- Advocating for disability rights
- Ending gender-based violence
- Ensuring personal mobility

About Us

Our Timeline

2007

Indonesia signed the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities on 30 March 2007 and ratified it on 30 November 2011.

2012

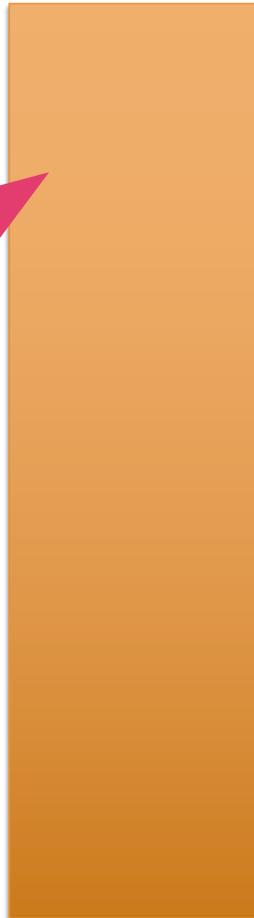

Building on the strengths of the disability rights movement in Indonesia, in Asia and globally, OHANA was established to advocate for the rights of persons with disabilities, especially women with disabilities in Yogyakarta Region, other provinces in Indonesia, and nationally.

2017

In the first 5 years, OHANA collaborated with other organizations of persons with disabilities to mobilize and advocate for better policies, laws, and programs aligned with the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD).

2022

With the challenges of the COVID-19 crisis in Indonesia, OHANA will strive to meet the immediate needs of the most vulnerable people and beat the devastating effect of the pandemic. At the same time, OHANA will advocate for a better future for persons with disabilities.

Our Challenges

The COVID-19 pandemic further increased the barriers felt by persons with disabilities, including access to justice and social protection programs.

There is a lack of understanding and competency by the justice system and social service providers of the situation and rights of persons with disabilities.

The isolation from social networks and loss of income of families of persons with disabilities created difficult situations for many people who were already vulnerable.

01. Systems must change

The lack of awareness of disability rights and stigma against persons with disabilities lead to exclusion and discrimination in national and local policies and programs.

02. Gender-based violence affects women with disabilities

Despite prevalence of violence against women and children with disabilities, laws, policies, and services do not reflect their needs and situation.

03. Lack of personal mobility limits access to education and opportunities

Individuals with disabilities and their families living in poverty in rural areas of Indonesia are unable to attend school and pursue opportunities.

Our Approaches

- 01 Advocacy Program for Equity, Inclusion and Justice
- 02 Ending Gender Based Violence Program

Looking Ahead

Building on Lessons

01

Stronger Together

We can achieve our goals when we work in coalition with other diverse disabled persons organizations, women's organizations, and other human rights groups.

02

Partnerships

We seek new partnerships and enhance existing ones, such as with migrant groups and mental health organizations, to expand our reach especially during the pandemic.

03

Leverage

We continue to leverage the CRPD, Sustainable Development Goals Agenda 2030, and other global frameworks to demand better government policies and structures to improve the lives of persons with disabilities.

04

Adapting to Change

We recognize that we need to learn and adapt as circumstances change during the pandemic. We need to also take care of our own team's mental and physical health with a dose of self-care.

05

Intersectional Lens

We will use an intersectional approach to explore and understand the social inequalities and barriers that continue to marginalize women with disabilities.
